Health Science Librarians of Illinois

Serving Illinois Health
Information Professionals

<http://hsl.org>

What is HSLI?

Health Science Librarians of Illinois serves as the primary statewide organization serving the needs and interests of all librarians who provide health information.

These dedicated professionals work in various environments, including hospitals, state agencies, and educational institutions.

This diverse group of individuals thrives on the constant networking and sharing of information, which allows for the continuing success of the group through:

- Supporting the development of health science library services in Illinois.
- Keeping all members informed of the latest trends and communicating to all members through our website and newsletter.
- Sponsoring liaisons to the National Networks of Libraries of Medicine, the Midwest Chapter of Medical Library Association, and the Illinois State Library.

Why Should I Join?

- HSLI sponsors educational programs, including an annual fall conference.
- HSLI works to strengthen multi-type library cooperation.
- HSLI offers a forum for communication through our newsletter, annual meeting, email discussion list, and website.
- HSLI gives you the opportunity to exchange ideas, discuss concerns and develop solutions with others in the health science professions.
- HSLI is open to all individuals interested in providing, sharing and disseminating information on the health sciences.
