Volume 6 Number 1

March 1986

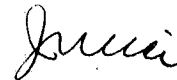

Dear HSLI Members:

The Champaign-Urbana meeting plans are progressing well and this newsletter contains further information about the meeting to be held May 8 and May 9 at the Chancellor Hotel in Champaign. Plan to attend.

The Illinois State Council met in January and Nancy Stump was re-elected Council President. A list of the State Council members is attached to this newsletter. At the meeting, lengthy discussion was held concerning statewide union lists of serials. Nancy has summarized the discussion in an important document entitled "Illinois State Council Special Report" which is included in this newsletter. A portion of the Champaign meeting will also be devoted to this important issue.

Read through the proposed by-laws changes. I don't think they are controversial, but you never know! Most of the changes seem to be "housekeeping" matters.

Plans for the joint fall meeting of HSLI and MC/MLA in Chicago are progressing well. Plan to attend this meeting at the Bismarck Hotel; it should be worthwhile.

HEALTH SCIENCE LIBRARIANS OF ILLINOIS
SPRING MEETING 1986

The Champaign-Urbana Consortium will host the HSLI 1986 Spring Meeting on May 8-9, at the Chancellor Hotel in Champaign. The theme of the conference "Improving Research Skills for Library Management" promises to offer valuable information on a variety of topics.

Two CE courses will be offered, one concerning statistics presented by the Library Research Center of the University of Illinois Graduate School of Library and Information Science, and the other on continuing medical education. Participants can choose a tour of the University of Illinois Libraries as an alternative to the afternoon CE.

The HSLI Board will meet at 5 p.m.

Tickets have been reserved for "Funny Girl" at the Sunshine Dinner Theatre on Thursday evening.

A full schedule on Friday begins with the State Council meeting and conference registration. The keynote speaker is University of Illinois Librarian Hugh Atkinson. The opportunity to clarify thoughts on SILO and OCLC and Illinois union lists will be provided by Kerry Miller, Director of ILLINET/OCLC Services at the Illinois State Library and Barbara Manchak, Director of Information Services, Suburban Library System.

A progress report on the Chicago Research Group's project to measure the impact of library services on Quality Assurance will be presented as a continuation of the CE course on statistics. The HSLI Business Meeting will round out the conference activities.

The local arrangements planning committee, Ann Neely, Cindy Schatz, and Harriet Williamson, along with Priscilla Swatos, Education Committee chair, have developed an interesting program. Plan now to participate in the Spring Meeting and all of its varied activities.

PREDICASTS HOSTS HEALTHCARE SEMINAR IN CHICAGO - JUNE 12, 1986!

CLEVELAND, OHIO--Predicasts, a producer of computerized online databases serving the international business community, will host a FREE search seminar for information professionals in the medical and healthcare industries in Chicago on June 12, 1986.

- This half-day seminar will provide researchers and others with answers to questions about when to search the PTS databases for information on new pharmaceutical introductions and FDA approvals, recent technological applications, birth and recovery statistics, trends in HMO's, private hospitals and health insurance and much more.

- This applications-oriented seminar is designed to supplement Predicasts' basic training seminar, which discusses in detail how to search Predicasts' database files. Predicasts' ten databases contain over 4,000,000 abstracts, indexes, forecasts and statistical series prepared from over 2400 international business, trade and government publications, company annual reports and news releases.

- This half-day session takes a strategic, hands-on approach to search methods that emphasize using Predicasts' complementary series of PTSTM databases to locate specific healthcare information. The seminar speaker will provide attendees with sample searches, workbooks, and free online time to practice what they have learned.

- For more information, contact Predicasts' Seminar Department at 800-321-6388 (toll-free) or (216) 795-3000 in Ohio.

FAX EXPANSION PROJECT

As most of you know, the Illinois State Library funded a Telefacsimilie project for some health science libraries in the state. This endeavor was called the "Fax Expansion Project". We have recently learned that, although there may be more grants for fax expansion, these funds will not be channelled to health science libraries. That is the bad news; the good news is that there are now a core of libraries in Illinois with Fax machines who are "hooked" on telefacsimilie as a means of hard copy transmission rather than the U.S. mail. Any libraries who can squeeze the dollars out of their budget for a machine, can become part of this growing network of fax users. Library committees might like to buy you this equipment because of its impact on your "turn-around" time. Think about it.

ILLINOIS STATE COUNCIL SPECIAL REPORT

At the September, 1985, Illinois State Council meeting, it was announced that there would be no subsidy for the Illinois Health and Science Libraries Serial Holdings List this coming year from ILLINET. Although future funding would not be forthcoming, grant money would be available for Illinois libraries belonging to ILLINET to permit them to join the Serials of Illinois Libraries (SILO) Project. A considerable effort would be made to make SILO a statewide union list of serials. After this announcement, the Council decided to ask representatives of SILO to attend the Council's winter meeting to describe the SILO project. The following information was presented at that meeting:

SILO

What is SILO? SILO (Serials of Illinois Libraries) is an online union list of serials provided through OCLC. SILO began in 1981/82. Current LSCA funding for 1985/86 has revived this project by adding more serial lists from Illinois institutions to SILO. Future funding through LSCA is being requested for next year. At the present, holdings of over 130 Illinois libraries constitute the SILO database. Health science libraries are just beginning to join SILO. SILO holds over 40,000 serial titles and includes more than 90,000 Local Data Records (LDR) attached to the serial title.

Where is SILO? The headquarters is located at Northern Illinois University. Norm Vogt serves as the Project Manager and Suzanne Schriar is the Technical Coordinator.

What is an LDR (Local Data Record)? It is the record that contains the union listing information within the OCLC database. It is an auxiliary record to the bibliographic record.

Who is eligible to participate in SILO? Those Illinois libraries which are members of ILLINET are eligible to apply. Libraries need not belong to OCLC in order to join SILO.

What are the benefits of participation in SILO?

- *Funding support for the creation of local data records (LDR) for your present serials holdings.
- *Access to Illinois serial holdings in a single search.
- *Access to 44 other nationwide online union lists.
- *Increased capability to share resources based on current, dynamic files.
- *Availability of offline products, e.g. paper printouts, microfiche, and computer tapes.

How much does it cost to join SILO? Sufficient grant money is now available to cover the major costs of joining SILO through June 30, 1986. The grant money covers the creation of an LDR ($.25), updating any record ($.07) and establishing an institution's profile which serves to inform OCLC that the library is a participant in SILO. Those libraries which are already in OCLC must be willing to attend a training session and provide the necessary staffing to input the records. Those libraries which are not members of OCLC will send their serial lists to the SILO headquarters at Northern Illinois University where the SILO staff will input the records into OCLC.

There is an annual record storage fee for all Illinois libraries joining SILO. The cost is $.03 per local data record (LDR). For example, if a library submits 100 serial titles to SILO, the charge would be $3.00 per year for storage. The former annual fees to OCLC ($30 non-OCLC libraries and $50 OCLC libraries) have been discontinued.

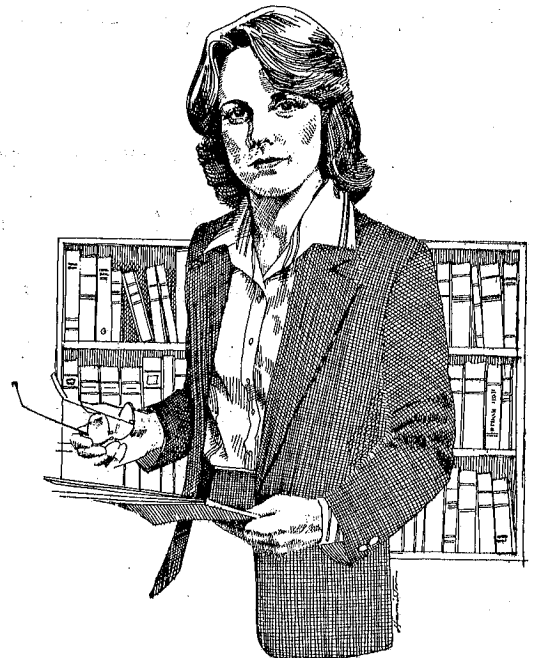

How does a non-OCLC library, access the holdings of other libraries?

This can be accomplished through an off-line product (a serial printout) which is available in paper, microfiche or magnetic tapes. The charge for this product will depend on the type of format requested and the total number of titles. (HSLI will soon begin to investigate the possibility of producing an off-line product for health science libraries.)

SILO Membership? Libraries may apply by contacting Suzanne Schriar (NIU) at 815-753-9866 or 815-753-1105 and request a letter of agreement. For non-OCLC libraries, all funding except for the storage fee will be provided under the grant through June 30, 1986. For OCLC libraries, all funding except for staffing and storage fees will be provided under the grant through June 30, 1986.

After receiving this information, the Council's asked what would happen to the Illinois Health and Science Libraries Serial Holdings List. After some discussion, it was decided that the Council chair would contact Irwin Pizer about the future of the list. In response, Irwin indicated that the list will cease to exist. The Library of the Health Sciences/ University of Illinois at Chicago produces the Illinois Health and Science Libraries Serials Holding List as a contribution to statewide interlibrary cooperation. Without ILLINET funding, the Library of the Health Sciences/ University of Illinois at Chicago would not be able to continue to produce the list. The cost probably over $100 depending on the number of copies sold, would be prohibitive.
