PRESIDENT'S ADDRESS

Greetings! The time is here to make some big changes.

I would encourage you all to attend the Fall HSLI meeting. During our business meeting, I anticipate some major changes being proposed with HSLI.

This will be a time for your input. In fact, the whole meeting will be devoted to change.

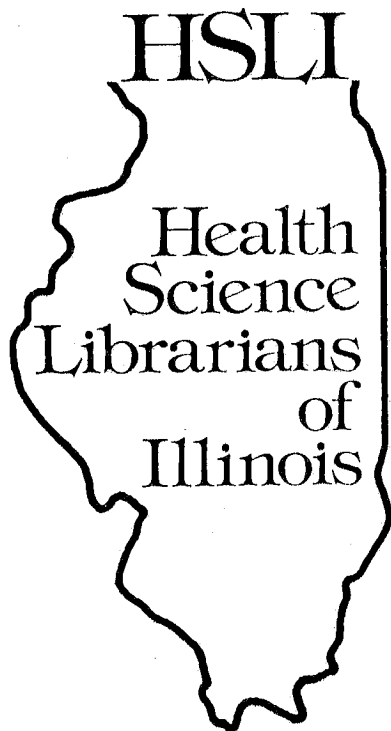

Committee reports will be in your packets and will not be presented at the meeting. These reports will only be discussed if there are questions.

It should be an exciting meeting--yes, I said exciting!

The Spring 1994 HSLI meeting will be held in conjunction with ILA in Chicago. More information will be given at the Fall 1993 HSLI business meeting.

The Fall 1994 HSLI meeting will be held in conjunction with MC/MLA. Oh, by the way, HSLI is sponsoring this meeting. If you want to help, call Nancy Dale (815-961-2030, ext. 4556). It's always better to volunteer than to be drafted!

Hope you all had an enjoyable summer and we will see you this Fall in Champaign, Illinois. Don't forget the HSLI Board meeting on Thursday evening--we'd love to have you join us! Be sure to come!

LATE-BREAKING, EARTH-SHATTERING EDITORIAL EXCUSES

If your copy of this issue arrived late or if something is missing that should have been included, I have an excuse so I'm going to use it.

We at NCC are just completing a move into a new library building. All vital information (address, telephone number, fax number) stays the same.

The move was slightly traumatic for me since I've been in that old library for over a baker's dozen years and I don't adjust well to change.

But it was an educational experience. If anyone out there needs information on planning a library move or practical tips on what can go right or wrong, ask my colleagues or even me.

Hey, maybe we could identify resource people within HSLI who could share their experiences on this topic as well as other common library miseries?

Anyway, I better start my excuses. Our telephone and fax lines were disconnected so I might have missed your attempts to contact me with news and submissions. If so, sorry.

Also, our computers were unavailable for a few days, so I could not work on the newsletter.

And (I'm on a roll now), we (HSLI) changed mailers.

So, please accept my excuses and apologies unless none are needed (I won't know until it's too late).

But regarding our move, it went pretty well, thanks in part to our (i.e., my colleagues') planning and thanks to Hallett Movers. Can I say that? Or does that constitute an unethical endorsement or abuse of editorial privilege?

Maybe some of you out there are better at thinking out these policy-making issues. I need volunteers to help me to draft newsletter policies.

For example, job openings--are they news or advertisements or both. Until the economy improves, many of us are going to be changing jobs, so this information is relevant to our membership. Bottom line--when and for what do we charge?

If you think you have a handle on policy formulation, volunteer for the newsletter committee. My information is printed in the next (right) column.

Thanks.
